Dear Friends,

This morning I watched a clip taken from the Blessing of the Animals at

The Cathedral of St. John the Divine in NYC this past Sunday. The first Sunday of October now reminds us and helps us celebrate the love of animals we attribute to St. Francis. Just saying . . . they had a few more animals to bless than did we. Several species of goats, rabbits galore, a spectacular chicken, a calm service dog, a white goose, ducks, a tortoise that had to be a century old, a boa constrictor, an owl, a cat that was carefully tucked in a carrier, a cockatoo, an owl, and yes, even a camel! No surprise that the acolyte that followed this grand procession was waving incense like crazy.

I also noticed Monday's headline in the Spokesman-Review heralded a picture of a choir member straddling his choir book in one hand and a white poodle with the other as he moved around the corner of the altar at our own St. John's Cathedral. The by-line that went above the picture summed up the spirit of the day city wide very well: "It's my feeling that if they didn't have pets in heaven, I wouldn't go," spoken by Carolyn Casey, who brought her 4-year-old goldendoodle to another venue, St. Mark's Lutheran Church.

Granted, our own version of the Blessing of the Animals on Sunday was a little more circumspect than the first. We had one beautiful cat and the rest were well-behaved dogs, one of which added some beautiful noises to the Lord during two of the hymns. In the picture, on page 2 of the Resurrection Review, you checking each other out and evidently finding the other quite acceptable.

I noticed abundant smiles as we worshipped together Sunday. Animals are indeed God's gift that brings comfort and joy. They make prayer a little easier because they make us happy (among other things). Sometimes as I struggle with the quiet time of my my morning prayer I get a little antsy to finish so I can go pick up our neighbor's dog for our morning walk. "Mr. Barnsley" is always ready to meet the same trail with his tail waving like a flag, meeting the day as if he has never been so absorbed or so happy. Seems like the essence of prayer to me!

Blessings, Rev. Linda

Sunday Market

As you plan your fall schedule, please keep November 20th in mind. I hope that you will have some things to donate. Jams, jellies, other canned items White Elephant items (very popular last fall!) Hand crafted items, knitted, quilted, crocheted, wreaths, holiday items Baked yummys and candies etc. Last year we made hundreds of dollars from the sale and we were able to pay for changes in the lighting, new energy efficient bulbs, etc. Besides that, I think it is a lot of fun! ### Gardeners

I need some input/suggestions concerning Saturday apple cider pressing. Weather for Saturday is for rain ending in the afternoon. I'm thinking about these options; 1 The event can be moved to the afternoon with canopies set up over the work area, 2 Pick apples and store them in the garden shed and wait for better weather, 3 Cancel the event. The apples need to be picked soon, as they are falling off the trees. Let me know what you think so plans can be made. Thanks. Tim

Can't imagine the world without The Episcopal Church of the Resurrection? Help us guarantee that our Church will reach future generations of dynamic and committed Christians: make a bequest to our Church in your will.

Tri-Parish Meeting

The next Tri-Parish meeting will be held at Resurrection on Wednesday, October 19th at 5:00pm. Everyone is welcome to attend and learn more about our wonderful Tri-Parish family.

Contact Information

With so many new faces at our church, it is easy for people to miss out on important information or events taking place. And we wouldn't want that to happen.

If you joined our church after 2014, if you address, email or phone number has changed, or if you simply feel like events are taking place that you aren't aware of, it is probably time for you to contact the office and update your information.

Take comfort in knowing your information is not sold to outside sources, it is not stored online, and your information will not be published in our directory without your permission.

To update your information or simply make sure everything is up to date, please contact the office via phone 509-926-6450, email: office@resurrectionspokane.org or simply stop by during business hours.

We want to keep you informed.

Chinese Lantern Festival

If you missed it last year, here's your second chance to witness this six-week celebration of Chinese culture featuring massive lanterns, amazing performances and incredible food. This event will continue now until October 30 so don't miss it. Hours are Sundays-Thursdays, 5-10 p.m. with performances at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.; and Fridays-Saturdays, 5-11 p.m. with performances at 7 and 9 p.m. Discount tickets at the gate: Tuesdays is Seniors Day, Wednesdays is Military Day and Thursdays is College Day.

Scenic Excursion Train Ride

If you've never experienced the train ride from Ione to Metalline Falls, now is your last chance to get in on the action. This 90-minute, 20 mile round trip excursion takes you from Ione to Metaline Falls and back winding along cliffs more than 100 feet above the Pend Orielle River. Presented by the North Pend Oreille Valley Lions Club, the train often encounters volunteers from the Wild West period. The train runs Oct8-9, 15-16, and 22-23 at 1pm and 3pm. Tickets are $15/general, $10/ ages 2-12, under 2 is free at 199 Railroad Ave in Ione.

Yogalign Classes

Intro to Yogalign is designed for those new to the Yogalign method of exercise. Yogalign uses safe and painless body positions and breathing techniques to achieve optimal alignment and increase strength, flexibility, and joy.
